John was referred to ICP by a social service agency in town. ICP caught his attention because there was no cost for the rides and they assist John in getting to his doctor's appointments and bank errands. Since his family is out of the area, his neighbors and ICP are the people who he counts on to get him out and about. John's experience with ICP has been very positive and he says that volunteer drivers are understanding when he needs to stay longer than expected at an appointment.

"I just could not believe how beautiful they are."

PROJECT WARMTH

Leigh has been a volunteer since 2019. She heard about ICP at her church, where she deeply connected with their mission. As Leigh's children are growing up, she has more free time and decided to become a volunteer driver. ICP has given Leigh the opportunity to have time with her family, church activities, and even volunteering at other organizations due to the flexibility of ICP's schedule. She enjoys hearing client's stories, and making a difference in their day. Leigh's experience with ICP has opened her eyes to the way she can serve older adults in the community.

"You don't have to go very far to make an impact. You just have to go local."

Leigh, ICP Volunteer
